

Appendix A

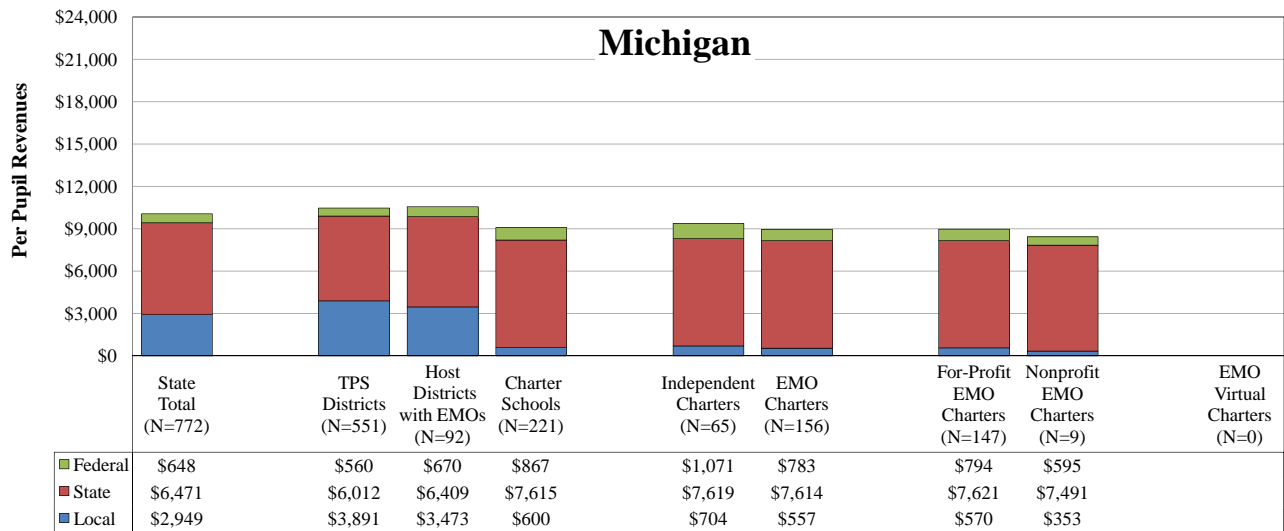

Revenues by Source, 2006-07*

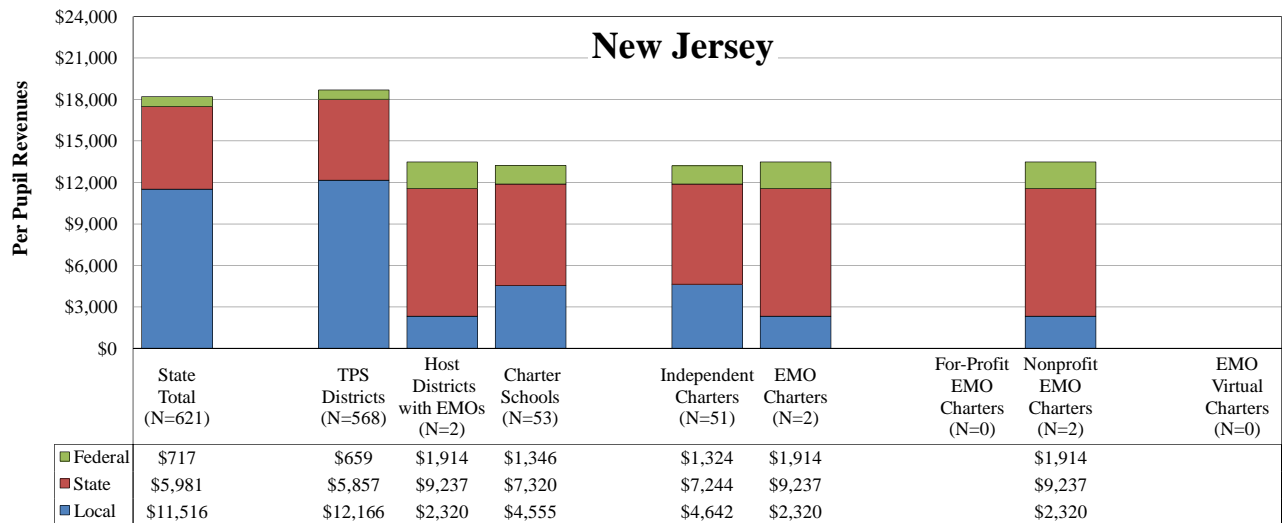

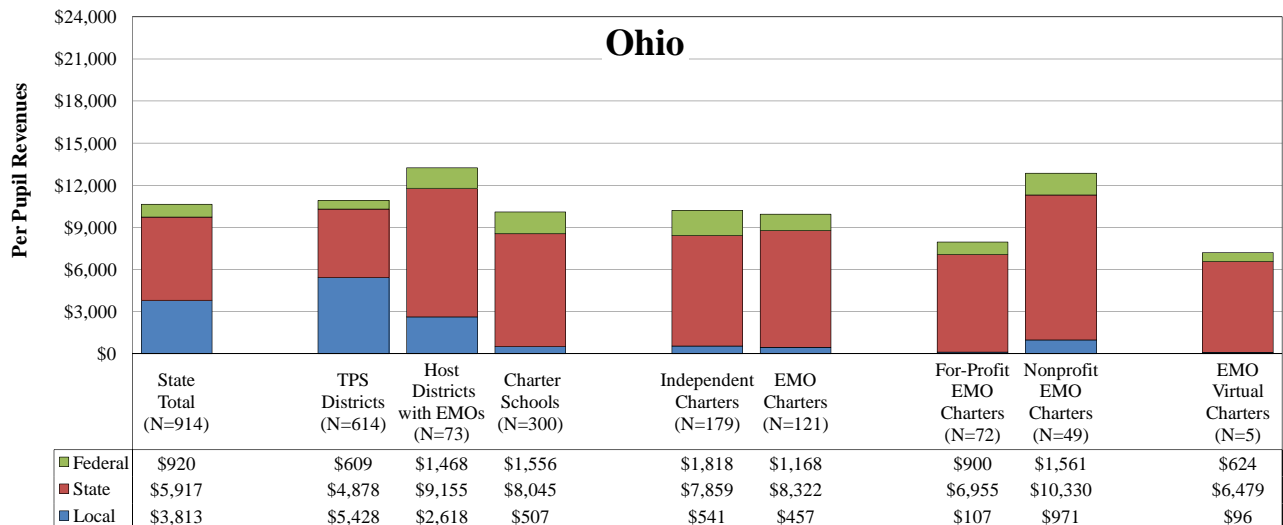

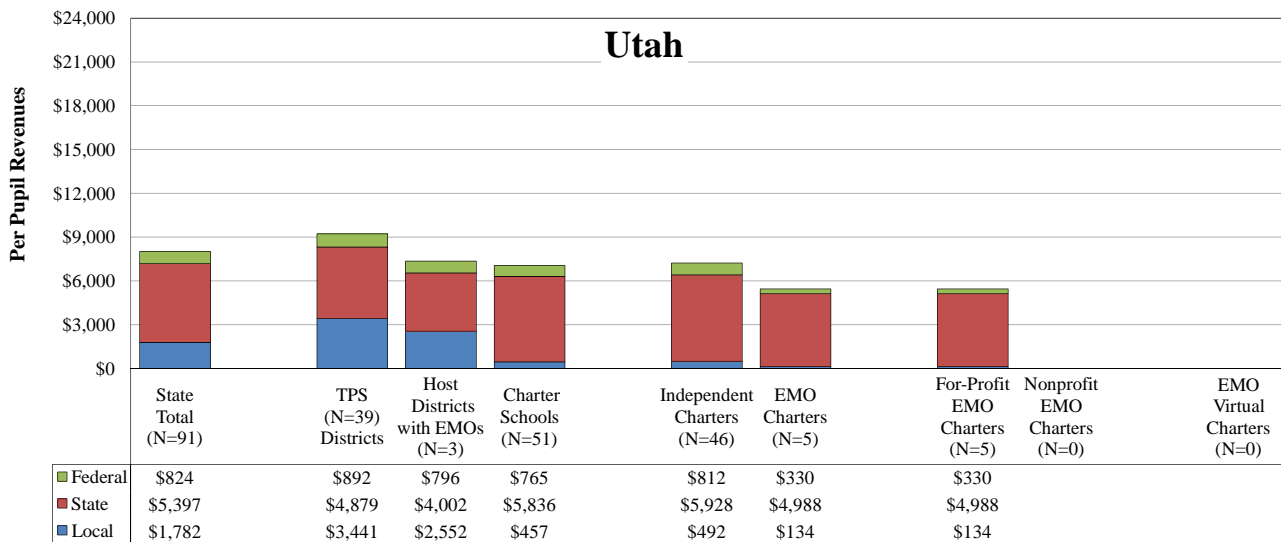

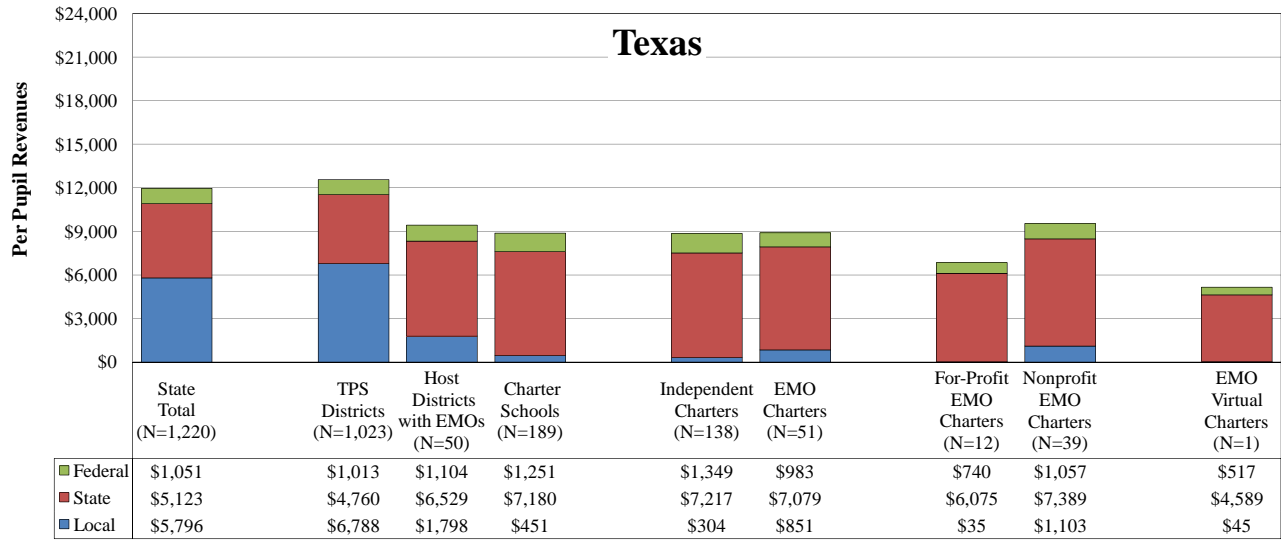

The scale for North Carolina's revenues has been adjusted to accommodate the high revenues per pupil reported by one school in particular. The revenues per pupil for Gaston College Prep, a KIPP school, was extremely high compared to all other North Carolina schools. This may be an error in the data set.

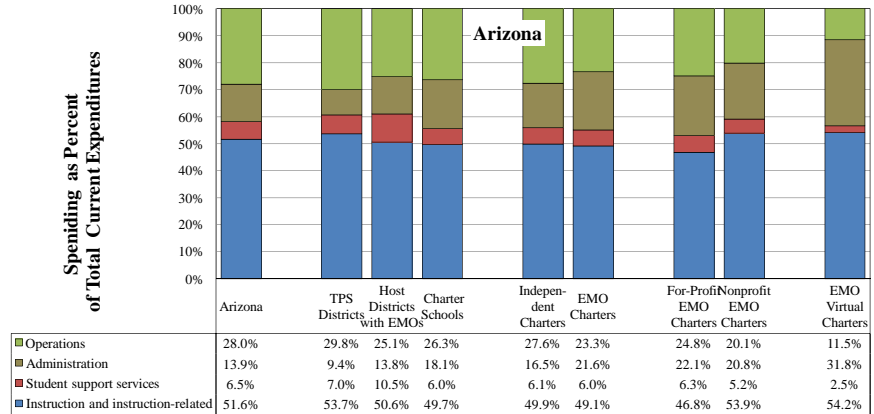

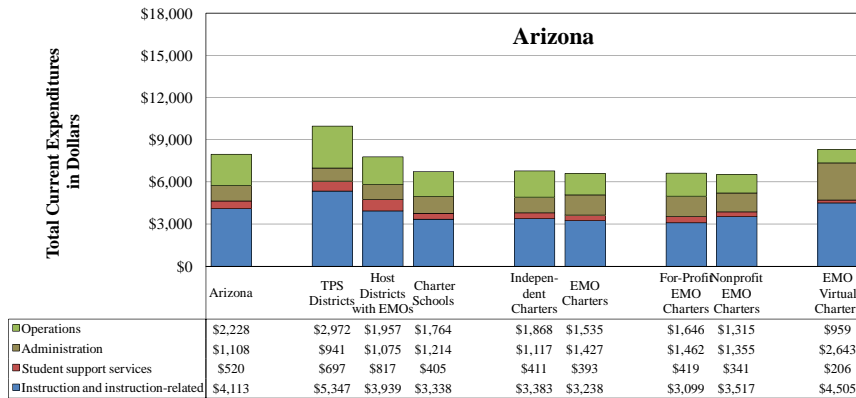

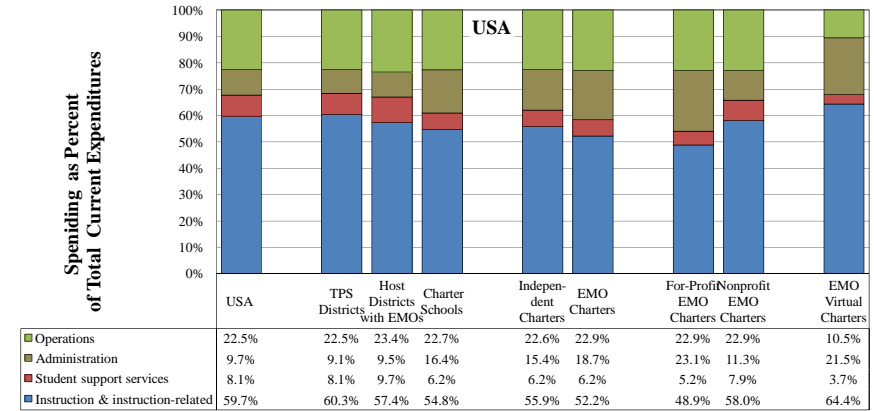

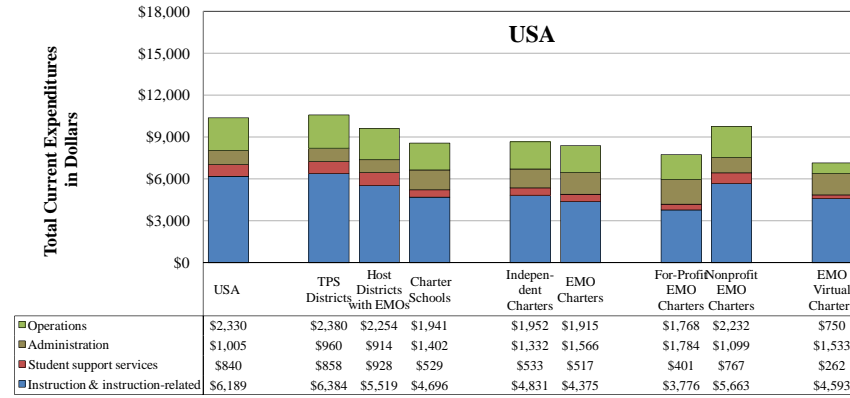

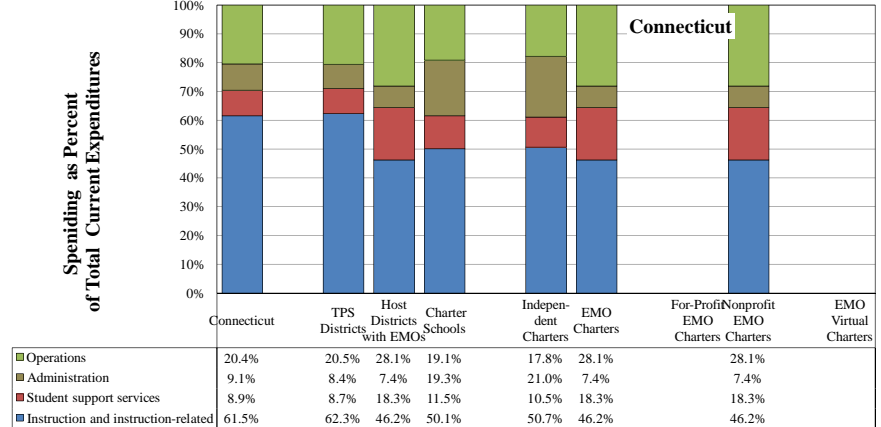

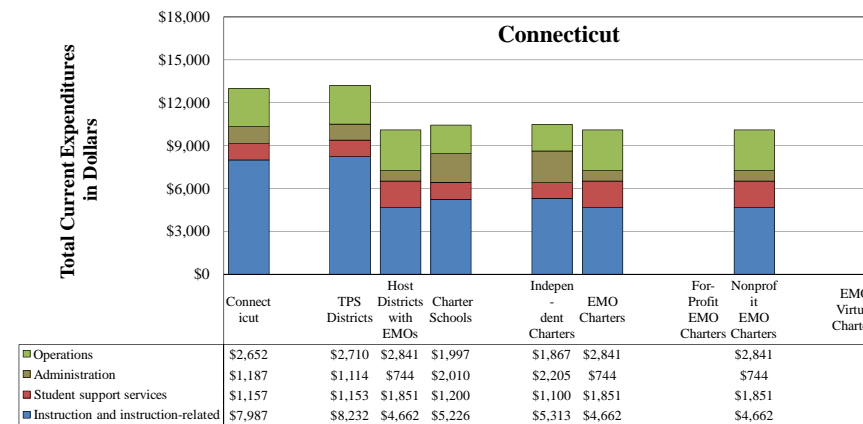

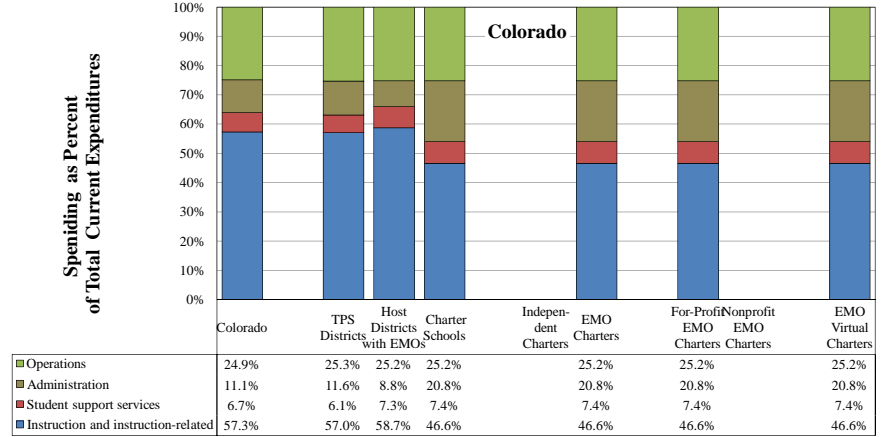

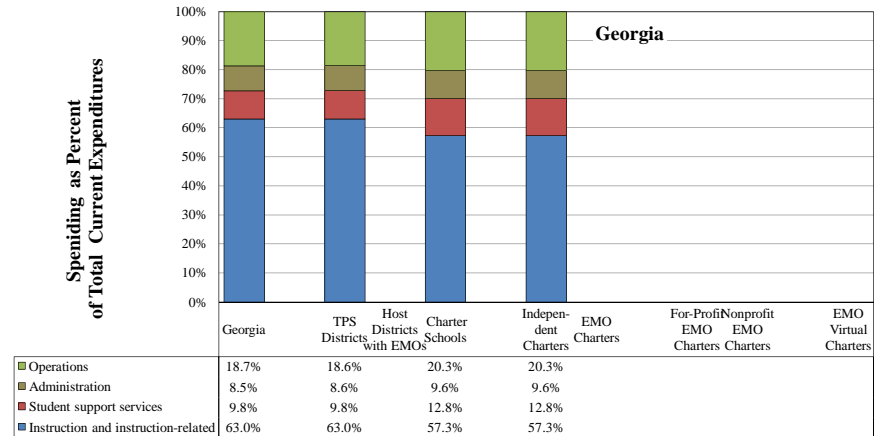

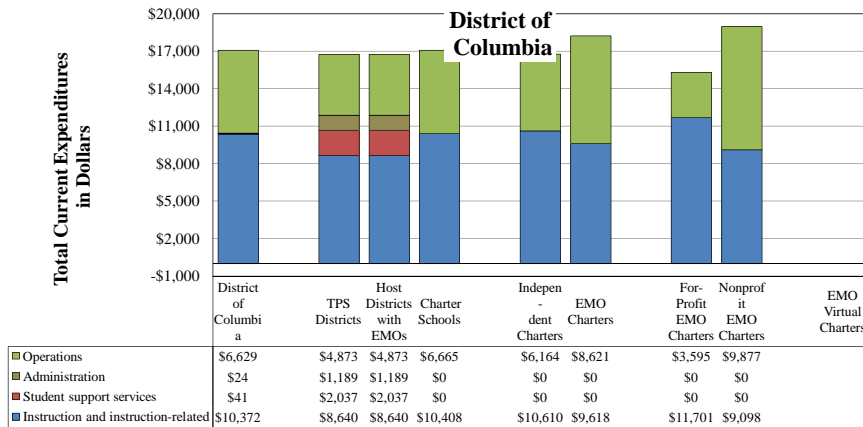

* Profiled states in these appendices include all states with charter schools that reported unique finance data for the National Public Education Financial Survey (NPEFS) for School Year 2006-07. Although all districts nationwide were included in the national average, a number of states with charter schools and EMO-operated schools could not be included in the appropriate comparison groups because these states blended charter school data together with district data before submitting the data for the NPEFS. Charter school states not profiled for this reason include Alaska, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Maryland, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New York, New Mexico, Nevada, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

* Profiled states in these appendices include all states with charter schools that reported unique finance data for the National Public Education Financial Survey (NPEFS) for School Year 2006–07. Although all districts nationwide were included in the national average, a number of states with charter schools and EMO-operated schools could not be included in the appropriate comparison groups because these states blended charter school data together with district data before submitting the data for the NPEFS. Charter school states not profiled for this reason include Alaska, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Maryland, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New York, New Mexico, Nevada, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

Profiled states in these appendices include all states with charter schools that reported unique finance data for the National Public Education Financial Survey (NPEFS) for School Year 2006–07. Although all districts nationwide were included in the national average, a number of states with charter schools and EMO-operated schools could not be included in the appropriate comparison groups because these states blended charter school data together with district data before submitting the data for the NPEFS. Charter school states not profiled for this reason include Alaska, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Maryland, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New York, New Mexico, Nevada, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.
