

Join These Upcoming Webinars on Youth Organizing

The Research Hub for Youth Organizing, a project of NEPC, invites you to join three conversations about transformational and justice-oriented youth development, youth organizing strategies for systems change, and supporting the field of youth organizing post-election.

These conversations will be co-led by youth organizers and researchers. The conversations pick up on findings from the recent report Developing Youth Power: Community Organizing and Youth Development in California. The webinars are open to the public and free to attend.

- Conversation #1: What Is Holistic and Justice-Oriented Youth Development
Wednesday October 16th, 11-12:15 pm Mountain Standard Time
Danielle Aguilar and Ben Kirshner from the Research Hub will share overall trends and Jesus Sanchez from Gente Organizada will share examples of youth organizers embodying justice-oriented youth development to launch this conversation.
- Conversation #2: Organizing Strategies for Systems Change: Working Within and Outside of Systems
Wednesday November 13th, 11-12:15 pm Mountain Standard Time Kate Baca and Vandna Sinha from the Research Hub and Youth Organizers will spark this conversation about the insider and outsider strategies that organizers are using to change the field and bring a more relational approach to their work.

- Conversation #3: Supporting the Field of Youth Organizing Post-Election
Wednesday December 11th, 11-12:15 pm Mountain Standard Time
This conversation is an opportunity to ask organizers from Power California, Youth Organize! California about how the broader fields of philanthropy, advocacy, communications, and research can best support youth organizing in this current moment. It will be facilitated by Michelle Renée Valladares from the Research Hub.

NEPC Resources on Community Organizing and Engagement

This newsletter is made possible in part by support provided by the Great Lakes Center for Education Research and Practice: <http://www.greatlakescenter.org>

The National Education Policy Center (NEPC), a university research center housed at the University of Colorado Boulder School of Education, sponsors research, produces policy briefs, and publishes expert third-party reviews of think tank reports. NEPC publications are written in accessible language and are intended for a broad audience that includes academic experts, policymakers, the media, and the general public. Our mission is to provide high-quality information in support of democratic deliberation about education policy. We are guided by the belief that the democratic governance of public education is strengthened when policies are based on sound evidence and support a multiracial society that is inclusive, kind, and just.
